

UC Davis College Preparation Summer Academy

Applying to college can be tough, particularly for international students who may be less familiar with U.S. academic culture, but with our three-week summer college preparation program, international high school students will gain necessary skills and tips for successfully applying to the University of California.

Program Benefits

Designed for international 11th and 12th grade students who are planning to apply to UC Davis or another University of California school as undergraduates, this program will help students become familiar with the UC admissions process, improve their academic and study skills and gain confidence in their English language skills. The program features:

- Two units of academic credit
- Unique introduction to college life
- Best practices for responding to personal insight questions for University of California application essays
- Academic Success and Skills classes to improve reading and writing skills, time management, communication and leadership skills, listening and critical thinking

Program Details

This program consists of five hours of daily instruction in academic skills, application essay writing and academic success building, as well as weekly special presentations and weekend activities.
