

Los Rios Community College MESA Student Tour

The George E. Brown, Jr., Network for Earthquake Engineering Simulation (NEES) facility at the University of California at Davis was host to a tour of 19 students and counselors from Los Rios Community College on April 27, 2012. The tour was guided by Professor B. L. Kutter.

The tour provided the students with demonstrations of the centrifuge and technologies at the NEES@UC Davis facilities. The students were also introduced to studies, careers, future directions, and research opportunities in the field of civil engineering.
