

Experience the Davis Difference

For more than 40 years, the University of California, Davis, Division of Continuing and Professional Education's International Programs have created lasting, innovative partnerships with prestigious international universities and organizations. For students around the globe, we represent opportunity, access and achievement—connecting international partners and their students with world-class learning.

As a top-tier university, UC Davis is consistently ranked one of the world's best research and public universities, with leading programs in Animal Science, Agriculture, Sustainability and more. But there's more to UC Davis than academics. See what sets us apart and what makes UC Davis the perfect place for international students to learn, make friends and develop a global network.

Committed to our Partners

- Primarily partnership-based
- High level of service and customization
- Integrated curriculum

Specialized Programs

- Campus integrated study abroad
- Academic preparation and research
- Global competencies and UN SDGs
- Youth programs

Exceptional Campus Setting

- Close to San Francisco, Silicon Valley, wine country and the mountains
- Friendly and relaxed environment
- Safety and security are prioritized

“I CHOSE UC DAVIS FOR ITS PRESTIGE AND HIGH ACADEMIC EXCELLENCE.”

—Efren Motto, El Salvador,
Academic Preparation Program

UC DAVIS
Continuing and
Professional Education | International

Academic Preparation

Academic Engagement

Student groups take core academic preparation and elective classes, gaining academic skills to help them succeed in their undergraduate education. 10 weeks, available year round

English for Science and Technology

Students focus on increasing their awareness of current issues and emerging technologies in STEM, expanding their technical vocabulary, and learning how to gather and analyze data for a research project. 4 weeks

Entrepreneurship and International Business

In this innovative program, students examine hot topics in international business, learn design thinking and collaborate to create step-by-step business plans, while honing their communication skills. 4 weeks

Communication and Culture

Students take a deep dive into U.S. culture by analyzing American society through extensive contact assignments and practice with native speakers, preparing them to communicate confidently in English. 4 weeks

Global Awareness and Intercultural Communication Seminar

Students focus on American culture, global societies, the United Nation's Sustainable Development Goals and conversational fluency to increase their understanding of global issues. 4 weeks, remote

Interdisciplinary STEM Seminar

Give students a unique opportunity to prepare for a future in STEM by examining current issues in science and technology, exploring entrepreneurship, and improving English-language skills. 4 weeks, remote

UC Davis Academic Credit

Global Study Program

This unique study opportunity allows students from select universities to join UC Davis as visiting students, earning UC Davis credit and integrating fully into university student life.

Youth Programs

Give junior high and high school students (ages 12-17) the opportunity to explore a world-class research university and prepare for a successful academic future.

UC Davis College Preparation Summer Academy

Students learn best practices for applying to U.S. colleges, improve academic skills and earn academic credit, while living in campus dorms.

Custom Programs

We work with international universities, government-sponsored agencies, higher education organizations and foreign ministries of education to design customized programs with the format, timing and curriculum your students need. Sample programs include: discipline-specific academic programs, professional development programs, research opportunities, language acquisition, higher education administration programs and programs for pre-college aged learners.

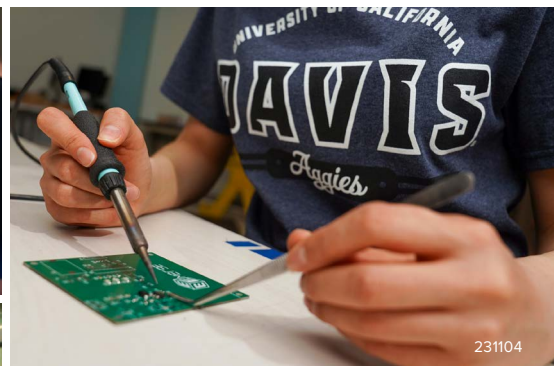

“UC Davis is very interesting.

It is unlike any American college that I have pictured in my mind.

The campus is very peaceful, the buildings are beautiful and the campus feels truly alive. I have made many valuable memories here that I will cherish forever.”

—Bimo Rizki Abdusshamad, Indonesia,
Global Study Program

231104

CONTACT US

+1 (530) 757-8686

cpeinternational@ucdavis.edu

cie.ucdavis.edu