GROW

Zhaozhong (Tony) Du: A Success Story

“Tony” Du attended the U.S. College Preparation Program as a junior in high school in China. He expressed interest in applying to a liberal arts school in the United States, so during his junior year he applied to 11 schools. Six schools accepted him—including Pratt Institute, Maryland Institute College of Art, Temple University, University of Colorado Boulder, New Jersey Institute of Technology and University of Massachusetts Amherst.

He chose the University of Massachusetts Amherst. He is one of many who have been admitted to universities across the United States after attending the U.S. College Preparation Program. These students not only become more knowledgeable about applying to a U.S. college, but have better writing skills, too. They are always thrilled when they receive a letter of recommendation from the instructor after completing the program requirements.

FRIENDSHIPS THAT LAST A LIFETIME

“It was awesome studying in a university setting. My favorite part is that we not only get to study English a lot, but also we have a lot of fun.”

Kasa Chan, Hong Kong, Youth Programs

INTERNATIONAL CUSTOM PROGRAMS

Every university, institution and organization we partner with is unique. Each has different needs, different goals and different students. Our approach to developing custom international education programs reflects these differences, ensuring that the programs we create are as distinctive as the clients and students we serve. For more than 40 years, we have been developing customized programs for some of the world's most notable international universities, government-sponsored agencies, higher education organizations and foreign ministries of education.

Takahiro Sasaki: A Success Story

UC Davis' Japanese Ag Training Program originated more than 15 years ago. Each year, trainees come for nine weeks of academic instruction in specialty fields of agriculture and agribusiness. Takahiro attended in 2008, and after returning to Japan he began a start-up vegetable farm. Due to unfortunate circumstances, the farm did not do well, but "Taka" did not give up. He decided to return to the United States where he enrolled in a community college and then eventually transferred to California Polytechnic State University (Cal Poly). During his senior year, Taka reconnected with the Japanese Ag Training Program and was hired as a program interpreter. Taka later returned to student life as a graduate student at UC Davis.

AN UNMATCHED
CULTURAL EXPERIENCE

Homestay*

With a homestay arrangement you will live with a local family and experience a U.S. family lifestyle. There are many benefits to being placed with a homestay host family. The cultural experience is unmatched by any other residential placement and is an excellent way to expand your cultural and educational experience. Homestay housing arrangements are not one-size-fits all. You can choose to have your own room or you can share a room with another student. You can eat all or some of your meals with your host family. You choose the situation that best meets your needs.

Renting a Room in a Private House or Apartment

Many Davis families and student groups rent out rooms in their own homes for approximately $500-$900 per month. Renting a room is an excellent opportunity to live with others who are not part of the International Programs. Students can make these arrangements on their own once they arrive in Davis.

Dormitories

Dormitories (conveniently located near the UC Davis campus) are open to international students during the summer. Rooms come equipped with two beds, dressers and desks. Meals are provided in the campus dining halls, and membership at the Activities and Recreation Center is included.

Housing for University Groups

If you are a university or organization that will be sending a group of students, we are here to help you arrange housing for your group. We will work with you to find the housing that best fits the needs of your specific group.
